These masterpieces are all up on display in the room and will soon be glued into your child's scrapbook. If you haven't brought in a scrapbook yet please do so this scrapbook will become a special memory of your child's artwork.

Have you ever wondered how you can contribute to your child's learning through our nursery program? Here's a list of things for you to consider

- Bring in a storybook to share
- Come share your talent with us
- Write suggestions in our daily photo book
- Bring in items for craft eg, paper used empty containers, boxes ect.

It is important that you let us know any changes to your child's food, sleep routines, if they are teething ect so we can maintain high quality care of your child just jot us a note on the green parent communication slips on the day folder

Thanks Mrs Iso-Aho and Miss Godebye

Toddler News

What a busy and exciting start to the year we have had, and to star Mrs James and I would just like to say a big warm welcome and hello to all our Toddlers and their families

The toddlers have been a busy bunch getting to know each other and learning all about looking after ourselves and others. We have been doing this by working on dressing ourselves brushing our teeth, eating healthy, being active outdoors, sharing cars and respect for us and others and also by looking after our toy babies and some animals (chickens & mice)

A few of our toddlers have also been showing some interest in toilet training so if this is something you would like to work on as well just let Mrs James or myself know.

We will continue on learning about looking after ourselves and others for a little while longer and we will then be working on towards colours, this will be lots of fun and will help the children grow.

As we know the bike track is now open "Yay" but we would just like to remind parents children need a helmet (which can stay here of course) and children will also need to have closed in shoes to protect their toes.

Until next time stay safe and have fun

Mrs Harriman and Mrs James

Please remember to supply a bike helmet for your child to ride on the bike track
